How do they do that?

There are several popular optimisations scopes